MOE is aware of the problem but cautious, Parrott tells meeting

Ontario Environment Minister Harry Parrott, left, responds to a question during an open forum meeting in Haliburton on Monday evening. The meeting, held in the Legion, was called to inform Haliburton residents and cottagers about the efforts the ministry is taking to combat the impact of acid rain. Seated with Parrott at the head table is deputy minister Graham Scott, centre, and MOE scientist Dr. Tom Brydges.

Body discovered near Gooderham - man charged

A Scarborough man appeared in court July 3 in Scarborough charged with the first degree murder of his wife after her body was found near their cottage in Gooder-ham.

The body of Sheila Helen Odwell, 43, of Scarborough was discovered in a shallow gravel pit, wrapped in bedding and other covering. She was pronounced dead at 5:15 a.m. on July 3, by coroner Dr. L. B. Pierce of Haliburton.

Her husband, Keith

Roderick Odwell, 45, was taken into custody and charged with the murder.

Mrs. Odwell had been reported missing by her husband on May 6 after she had left her home on Madrid Street in Scarborough to visit her sister in Nelson, British Columbia on April 29.

She never reached her destination.

The homicide squad in Toronto received information regarding the case on July 2 that led to an investigation by Sergeants Vaughan O'Toole and Joseph Wolfe.

Members of the homicide, emergency task force and OPP continued their investigation in the Haliburton area.

Meanwhile, Mr. Odwell had disappeared from his residence at 14 Madrid Street, Scarborough, and information concerning his whereabouts led police to 344 Dundas Street East, where he was then arrested and charged.

It is believed that Mrs. Odwell was murdered in her home on or about April 28. She had been beaten severely in the head, police reported.

An autopsy has been scheduled for a later date and will be performed at the Centre of Forensic Science Laboratories by Dr. Hillsdon-Smith.

The Odwell's had four children ranging in age from 15-23 years of age.

OPP from Peterborough and Minden detachments assisted the homicide investigations.

Haliburton County residents and cottagers have received the assurances of the Ontario Environment Minister Harry Parrott that the province is concerned about the impact acid rain is having on area lakes. But, at the same time the minister, and several members of his staff have also indicated that the problem, though a serious one, has not reached crisis proportions in this part of the province.

The reassurance came at a special meeting Monday evening in Haliburton Village at which the minister, his deputy Graham Scott and Ministry of Environment scientist Tom Brydges spoke to residents on the problem of acidic precipitation. Just over 40 people, many of them members of county municipal councils, attended the meeting.

The gathering had been called at the request of the municipality of Dysart et al and the Haliburton newspaper, The Echo. With the assistance of Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins, the meeting was arranged following a similar gathering earlier this year in Muskoka.

The minister agreed with one comment from the audience that the time to find a solution to acid rain was running out. "I totally agree that we have no time to waste," Parrott stated, "but we must also ensure that before we take action that it is the most appropriate course to follow." He noted that studies are currently being carried out by his ministry into the impact of acidified precipitation. The minister said he felt there was time to allow for the completion of the tests and analysis of these results, before taking action.

Michael Collins, who has been a vocal spokesman for the Haliburton County Anti-Pollution Committee on the subject of acid rain, challenged the minister to begin a program to combat acid rain. He described the phenomenon as, "an impending tragedy". He told the minister, "We want to see a liming program started, at least on an experimental basis, to determine if it is a workable solution to the problems our lakes now face." Collins said that the testing being carried out by the MOE should continue but that a liming program should also be started this winter.

Dr. Tom Brydges noted that while liming had proven to be a qualified success in Sweden, the ecosystems they are trying to protect in that country are not as complex as those in Ontario. "In many cases there are only a few species of fish in the lakes and rivers of Sweden which are being damaged by acid rain," Brydges said. "The lakes in Haliburton contain many different kinds of fish and we are not sure what impact the addition of lime to our water will have on all the fish here."

Collins countered by suggesting that while massive liming of Ontario lakes may not be the answer to the problem, there are certain lakes in the province that have reached a crisis point and these could benefit from the addition of pebble size limestone to protect them.

Parrott noted that while there is much to be done in the research of the acid rain problem, progress has already been made in Ontario. He noted that ten years ago the emissions from the Inco stack in Sudbury were three times what they are today. "That is not a figure I am satisfied with, but I think it is an indication of some of the progress we have been making in Ontario over the past ten years."

A cottager from Kennis Lake wanted to know the condition of her lake with regard to its acid level.

Parrott noted that the MOE is simply not able to test all the lakes in the province. He said estimates that 48,000 lakes in Ontario are severely threatened by acid rain, are merely estimates. He said it would be impossible to obtain data on all the lakes in the province but he indicated that if property owners wanted to know the acid level in their lake, the ministry would be willing to carry out the necessary tests.

Another cottager from Kennis Lake offered the services of the lake association in monitoring the acid levels in the lake. He pointed out that the association is currently carrying out water quality tests for one government agency and they would be willing to undertake the acid testing as well.

While the minister welcomed the enthusiasm and concern of the property owner, he said the ministry would prefer to carry out its own testing. Brydges commented that the testing of water for acid levels is not a simple matter and he expressed concern that inaccurate readings could undermine the entire MOE testing program.

According to Brydges the ministry has now amassed four to five years of data on acid levels in a large number of lakes. He said that while a trend toward higher acidity has been noted, "The lakes are not becoming acid very fast. "If you took an acid reading this July and compared it with readings taken a year ago, you would find very little

Minden crews fight Ont. northwest fires again

Once again this summer, fires in northern Ontario have cut into the staff at the Minden District Office of the Ministry of Natural Resources.

Over 430,000 acres of prime timber land in Ontario is still being burned. Already 1.3 million acres have been lost this year to rampaging fire.

Hugh Allore, of the Minden District of the MNR said that two fires, Thunder Bay 46 and Ignace 27 are the most serious right now. 313,000 acres in Thunder Bay area and 130,000 in Ignace district have been burned this year.

At present, 41 people from the Minden district are helping in some way to combat the situation. Allore said that there are two women among the fire-fighters.

Included in the Minden contingent are three regular unit crews who are led by Gary Lee, Ron Gould and Ron MacKenzie, three auxiliary crews led by Lionel Duncan, Alec Miller and Jimmy Ellis and eight other crew members who are being supervised by a person from the northern Ontario division.

In addition, there are three overhead staff, Anne Smith, Bob Musclow and Ross Wray. Tom Russell, a field service supervisor returned to Minden July 3, but Allore said he is on standby and is expected to go back as soon as possible.

However, Allore said, "They've got so many fires up there, the guys are working pretty long hours and they're all tired. It's difficult to keep shifts rotating because of this."

Allore observed that, "Some of the people have been up there for the fourth time. They come back for a rest and then go right back."

Training for two more crews of eight men each began on July 2 and will continue until July 11, Allore said, and then the men will be shipped up immediately. The course is being conducted in Haliburton by Fred Rolfe and Gord Samells.

Although the MNR is directly involved with fighting the fires, Allore said that Minden is receiving pressure from other ministries such as the Ministry of the Environment because they are being asked to help with reinforcements and therefore depleting their staff.

Five-hundred more fire fighters are now being trained to take over from some of the people who have been working for as long as two months. It is hoped they will be ready in a week or two.

Allore said that this is what he could class as an "unusual year". This year the fire season started May 5 and Allore said it could be quite a long time before relief comes if there is little rain.

The problem is, however, that the rain has to cover the whole or most of the area the fire has engulfed or else it will continue to spread. Such has not been the case as yet in northwestern Ontario.

FROM THE CHAMBER

By Bob Stinson

Roger Parsons, the moving force behind the establishment of the Minden Wild Water Preserve, advises us that the dates for the opening are now official. In just under a year, on the site of this new park, the 1981 National Canoe and Kayak Championships will be held.

The events will take three days, with official slalom practice on the Friday, individual and team events on Saturday followed by a banquet, and the National World Championship Team Trials on Sunday.

The official opening of the Preserve will be held this fall on Saturday, September 13 and will be followed on Sunday the 14 with the Provincial Championship.

The organizers are to be congratulated for their efforts in bringing these events to our area and in setting up the facilities. It is certainly worth noting that they have gone to considerable extremes to maintain the esthetics and avoid creating inconveniences to surrounding cottages.

Time management

The Federal Business Development Bank is providing, by popular request, a half day seminar on the afternoon of July 17 at PineStone Inn. The topic, "Time Management" is one that should be of interest to many of us, particularly at this time of year. It will of course be difficult for many of you to take an afternoon just now for a seminar - but just think - the course is designed to show you how to make up for that time and more over the next several months. It's well worth the investment of $15 and 3 hours. Call Cathy McNeil at 748-3241 to register and we'll see you there.

What's new? --- lots

Workmen are swarming over the property previously known as the Hunter's Horn, preparing it for opening by this week-end. A group of investors headed by Mr. John Sheard are breathing new life into the old establishment and the new name will be "Golfer's Haven". From what John tells us we can expect to see some extensive development and promotion taking place on this property in the future.

In Minden we have two new businesses and a new owner in a third. Highlands Jewellery and China has just opened in the new building across from the Brewers Retail. Doctor Anthony Holiday-Rhodes' new office is located behind the jewellery store. Glen and Barbara Stokes are the new owners and they also operate Sider's Jewellery and China in Fenelon Falls. Their daughter Suzanne will be living here in Minden and managing the store.

Partners, which opened recently in the Minden Country Mall is owned by sisters Marilyn Meldrum and Barbara Gallagher who have cottaged for many years at Miner's Bay. This shop specializes in pre-cooked frozen entrees such as lasagna and Cordon Bleu in either individual servings or 5 pound trays. This is a super way to put on a gourmet meal at the cottage with a minimum of effort.

Sandy White Woolens has been sold to school teachers Gloria Markos and Gary Doyle who come from Toronto. They plan to run things just as in the past - after all you can't improve much on the past success of this unique shop - and Sandy has been around to help them along in that respect. We do hope you will drop in and say welcome to all these new folks and let them know we appreciate these additional contributions to our business community.

In the village of Haliburton the opening of the new Bank of Montreal set off a chain of moves that is giving everyone concerned larger quarters. Stedmans has taken over the previous quarters of Dominion Hardware to add still more floor space to an already expanded department store. Brad Sales then moved his Cordell Carpet Shop across the road to the much larger building which once housed the Red & White. They are now able to carry a much broader inventory and measure out yard goods much more efficiently. The Village Shoppe was quick to move into the space left only momentarily vacant by Brad and are pleased to now be on the main street with an ever expanding line of apparel.

We certainly wish continued success to all these developing businesses and we do suggest you drop in and see their new facilities if you haven't already done so.

Virus from the air to control sawfly

Aerial spraying brings to mind images of a crop dusting plane swooping low over field or forest leaving a fine spray or mist to settle on the plants below. The target: insects or plant disease. The weapon: chemicals.

The Ministry of Natural Resources is carrying out an aerial spraying program this week (July 7 - 11) in this area. However, this time the ministry will not be using a chemical agent to eradicate the pest in the forest.

The spraying program is aimed at the red headed pine sawfly which has infested stands of timber in the Minden area. Rather than the usual chemical control, the plane will drop a virus on the sawfly. Known as a nuclear polyhedrosis virus, the bug attacks only the sawfly. In other words of the Forest Pest Management Institute (FPMI) of Sault Ste Marie, "the virus is highly specific and infects only the target insect."

In addition, the traditional method of blanket spraying will not be used in this case.

Specific target areas where the insect has established itself will be sprayed. The target areas include two sites in Minden Township, two in Snowdon, and one each in Anson and Stanhope Townships.

The virus, once implanted, will spread throughout the plantation and to the whole population.

The FPMI report that the virus does not harm mammals, birds, fish and beneficial insects such as predators, parasites and honey bees.

For the virus to work properly, sawfly insect larvae must be active in the forest. The larvae eat the virus and about four days later, infection sets in. After one application, death will occur in eight to ten days, all the larvae will be dead in about 24 days.

Wednesday, July 9, 1980

Larvae feed in colonies and if even one member becomes infected, the rest of the colony will be infected.

The FPMI says that "all treated areas have been found to be completely free from sawflies in the year following application."

Since 1976, Ontario and Quebec have been using this virus. At that time, 3,000 acres had been successfully treated.

During the past four years, Ontario MNR and Quebec Forestry officials have been pleased with the results.

Several areas in Ontario have been treated including Lindsay, Pembroke, Lanark, Tweed and Sault Ste Marie.

The FPMI say, "We feel that use of this virus is preferable to spraying chemical insecticides."

difference in the levels."

However, the MOE scientist did point out that each spring the acid which is stored in snow and ice flows rapidly into area lakes creating a "shock" to the ecology of that body of water. "What we really are unaware of at this point is the impact that shock load is having on the fish," he told the audience.

He noted that Dr. Thomas Harvey of the University of Toronto is just starting his second year of studies into the effect the heightened acidity is having on fish. He said that until those studies have been completed, the ministry will not know what is happening to the fish each spring and what can be done to alleviate the problem.

"I think we can expect the present situation to last for another ten years," Brydges stated. "During that time we will have stressed or 'sick' lakes. It may look like we are dragging our heels, but we want to be careful that we do not do more harm by trying to correct the situation, than is currently being caused by acid rain."

In conclusion Parrott thanked those in attendance for coming. He told the group, "Information is our greatest ally and we are willing to share what our ministry has discovered with anyone who is interested. He reiterated that the ministry would be willing to test any lake for acidity and reaffirmed his ministry's concern for the damage being done by acid rain in Ontario.

He also stressed that public opinion, particularly in the United States, must be changed so that acid rain can be halted at the source. "This may be the most difficult task before us," he commented.

Hustlers still on top with two wins

The Minden Rockcliffe Hustlers continue in their winning ways in the Tri-County Fastball League. The local squad downed two of their toughest opponents this past week. They defeated the Lindsay Juniors by a 4-1 margin in Minden and defeated the Lindsay Seniors 6-5 in a squeaker of a game played in Lindsay.

Craig Stamp was the winning pitcher in the contest against the Juniors. It was played here July 2. Dwight Sisson smashed a round tripper for the local squad to ease them to the 4-1 win.

Things were a little tougher the following night in Lindsay. Facing the senior squad, the Hustlers were forced to go ten innings before breaking a 5-5 deadlock.

Brian Shaw set up the winning run as he hit a double in the tenth. Brian came home on a sacrifice fly by Jim Keetch that caught the Lindsay squad unprepared. A bad throw, which ended up in the Lindsay bench, helped to bring home the winning run.

Bernie Nicholls again cracked a homer for the Minden nine.

Jack Snell was the winning pitcher. The five runs he gave up in the game is the highest total for the Minden pitcher so far this season.

A Lindsay player, Hadley, captured the admiration of players on both teams when he managed an inside-the-park home run. Hadley is a player who is obviously fleet-of-foot.

The Hustlers entertain Woodville tonight (July 9) at the Minden diamond. The next game for the squad is July 16 in Bobcaygeon.

League action has been reduced by one team following the withdrawal of the squad from Fenelon Falls.

High quality maintained at Guild show

The skirl of the bagpipes once again greeted those attending the opening of the eighteenth annual Haliburton Guild of Fine Arts exhibition and sale Friday evening.

The yearly event drew an enthusiastic crowd of spectators who wandered about the second floor hall at the Haliburton Senior Elementary School examining the many pieces on display and attempting to decide which items to purchase.

Shoppers, as usual, found the prices to be extremely reasonable while the quality of goods was as high or higher than in previous years.

Members of the Guild Choral Society, under the direction of Marilyn Stouffer entertained with a number of selections. Their ability and style won the appreciation of the audience.

Following the musical presentation the winners in the various categories were announced by Guild president Mary Wallace.

This year's winner of the $100 design prize, donated by the Guild was Christie Wille for a wall hanging. The award, named in her honour, was presented by Tilde Nevitt. The $50 design award, presented by the Ontario Arts Council, was awarded to Carole McLean for pottery.

The winners in the various categories were:

-Rug hooking: 1. Audrey Deremo.

-Pottery: 1. Barbara Peel; 2. Pat Irwin.

-Off loom weaving: 1. Judy Chapman; 2. Wendy Bateman.

-Batik, quilting, stitchery and silk screening: 1. Mary Wallace; 2. Joan Pearson.

-Woodworking: 1. Derek Smith; 2. Norman Smith.

-Painting - oils, water colours, acrylic: 1. Dave and Audrey Grant; 2. Frank and Maureen Gaugh.

-Jewellery and metalwork: 1. Deborah Fear.

-Sculpture: 1. Carole McLean.

-Glasswork - stained, blown and enamel: 1. Roland Moddle; 2. Barbara Wigglesworth and Richard Wackerlin.

Honourable mentions were awarded to the following artisans: Gloria Carnochan, Carole McLean, Brigitte Kristensen, Mary Wallace, Jane Selbie, Dorothy Shantz, Elma Halminen, Judy Chapman and Barb Peel.

One of the many individuals on hand for the opening of the Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts exhibition and sale examines a quilt on display. The show attracted an excellent turn-out for the opening night, Friday.

It is obvious from these photographs that Guild Choral Society director Marilyn Stouffer enjoys her music. With animation and verve she draws a top performance from the choir as they performed at the opening of the annual exhibition and sale Friday.

The Missing link

Cottagers and area residents, the few that bothered to attend that is, heard it from the horse's mouth, (or should that be the Parrott's beak?) Monday evening in Haliburton Village.

The message, brought by Ontario's Environment Minister Dr. Harry Parrott, varied little from what we have already been told at numerous meetings in the county by those who toil under him in the ministry. But, perhaps there is some satisfaction in getting the message first hand, from the man who heads the government agency which everyone hopes will save this province from the scourge of acidified precipitation.

In any event, the minister reiterated comments made by members of his ministry in the past. MOE is concerned about acid rain and is currently moving at top speed to get a library of facts to provide a profile of the problem, and ultimately a plan of attack. The minister said that he felt our lakes still have at least ten years to go before they reach a crisis state and the ministry intends to use some of that time to amass as much data as possible.

Parrott, while admitting a certain amount of benefit could be gained by liming, indicated that he preferred to wait, at least a couple of years, before beginning any massive program. This was not welcome news to the members of the Haliburton County Anti-Pollution Committee who have been pressing for such a program, on an experimental basis, to prove the benefits of liming.

While we can appreciate the minister's reluctance to plunge into a program such as liming without knowing all the possible ramifications, we see no reason why a pilot project, on one or two small lakes in the region, could not be started this year. The MOE scientists admit that liming in Sweden has obtained some positive results, so why shouldn't the process be given an opportunity here.

Ministry officials, spokespersons of the Haliburton County Anti-Pollution Committee, cottagers, residents and others concerned with the health of our watersheds all agree that the ultimate solution to the problem of acidified precipitation lies in abatement at the source. But, as Dr. Parrott, admitted Monday night, the chances of convincing Americans to cut back on the use of high sulphur fuels grows slimmer each day.

Obviously acidified precipitation is going to be with us for many years to come and, if we are unable to stop it at the source, something is going to have to be done in the lakes and rivers. At the moment the best alternative lies in liming.

The experimental liming program deserves a chance to prove its worth. If it fails, if in following carefully laid guidelines for introducing the buffering agent into an acid stressed lake, it is discovered it just doesn't work, then the Ministry of Environment officials have gained knowledge that will be extremely useful in future efforts to ameliorate the impact of acid rain. On the other hand, if such a program were a success, the ministry will have gained equally valuable knowledge and irreplaceable time in its battle against acid rain.

Either way the quantity and quality of knowledge and know-how is increased.

Dr. Parrott stated Monday night that information is our greatest ally in the fight against the impact of acidified precipitation. An important gap is missing in our storehouse of information about the problem if the ministry continues to ignore the potential of liming.

REPORT FROM QUEEN'S PARK

By John Eakins, M.P.P.

The news this week certainly centres around the announced phasing out of the Armstrong plant in Lindsay, with the possible loss of around 300 jobs. This is really the first major blow Lindsay has received regarding industrial employment for a long time.

In the past 10-15 years, Armstrong has expanded rapidly and provided employment for a great number of people. I recall during my time as Mayor, our Industrial Commission working very hard to put together some parcels of land to accommodate these expansions.

I am hopeful that I can assist by arranging a meeting with the provincial officials to see what direction we might take to fill this vacuum. The parent company of Armstrong is in the United States and perhaps we can convince the provincial officials to look into the feasibility of assisting local management to turn the plant into a Canadian owner-operated concern.

The Ministry of Industry and Tourism recently announced funding to encourage this direction under certain circumstances. I believe the time has come for the provincial and federal governments to get together and forget any political infighting and see what can be done to encourage industry and jobs. I believe we have the manpower, the people with ideas, and perhaps the job of governments is to provide some definite encouragement.

The recent example of Trent Rubber Services could serve to encourage others in local industry. It would be ideal if the employees of Armstrong could do the same thing. I will work closely with the Mayor and Council, the Industrial Commissioner and others, to explore every possibility.

After a great deal of work and persuasion, I am glad the announcement has been made that the new 62-bed nursing home is to be built on the west side of Angeline Street opposite Victoria Manor in Lindsay. Construction of the new home is to begin this fall with an estimated completion in the spring of 1981.

The home will be operated by Earl W. Daynes, of Millbrook. At present Mr. Daynes operates the Springdale Nursing Home outside Peterborough.

The Ministry is awarding 30 beds through the recent completion in which six applicants applied. In addition, Daynes Holding Limited will be purchasing the 32-bed Hillcroft Nursing Home in Bobcaygeon. These are being combined to become the new 62-bed facility for Lindsay.

The additional beds for Lindsay area were recommended by the Haliburton, Kawartha and Pine Ridge District Health Council.

It is hoped that within the next 2-3 weeks, an announcement will be made regarding the proposals for the 60-bed facility. It has been a long and rough road to replace the beds which were lost with the closing of the home on Russell Street. Many people and families have been inconvenienced, and hopefully this will finally be rectified.

Rabies: what you should know

Rabies: an acute viral disease of the nervous system of warm blooded animals usually transmitted through the bite of an infected animal.

Rabies: a disease more common in southern Ontario than anywhere else in the world.

Rabies: a disease which, once contracted by an unprotected animal, is fatal.

Rabies: if a human shows symptoms of the disease it is too late to start treatment. There are no known cases of humans who have survived the disease.

As these facts reveal, rabies is a serious disease. But fortunately it is one which the chances of contracting it can be reduced if proper precautions are taken.

Rabies is most common among wild animals. Most notably the condition thrives among skunks, and foxes, and it is these animals which pass it on to domesticated animals.

According to Dr. P.J. Bennett of the Minden Animal Clinic there are two types of rabies. They are known as the furious, and the dumb or paralytic type.

In both cases the rabies virus travels from the point of infection through the nervous system to the brain of the animal.

"Once the brain has become infected with the virus, there is nothing that can be done to save the animal," the veterinarian commented. "The virus causes the brain to swell and abnormal behaviour in the animal."

In the instance of furious rabies the animal becomes excessively aggressive, lashing out at any moving object. "This is typically the 'mad dog' syndrome which is associated with the disease," the doctor explained. Bennett described one instance where a dog, infected by the disease, simply started running and continued to run until it finally collapsed. Anything which came in the way of the dog, other animals, tree branches, fences and other objects were viciously attacked by the dog.

It is through the furious rabies that the disease is transmitted to pets and livestock.

An animal suffering from furious rabies can remain in this state for three or four days.

The actions of an animal with dumb rabies is in marked contrast to that of the furious kind. These animals become slow and lethargic. They appear to be nervous but without excitement and agitation. This form of rabies spreads rapidly through the animal and death can occur within three or four days.

In either case the animal gradually becomes more paralysed by the disease until it can no longer move and it finally succumbs.

"One of the problems associated with this paralysis," Dr. Bennett commented, "is the animals lose their ability to swallow in the early stages. The owner of the animal may interpret the strange behaviour as a sign of choking and attempt to inspect the throat looking for an obstruction. If the owner has a cut on his hand, and the saliva from the animal is in contact with the broken skin, the disease could be picked up by the owner." It is through the saliva glands of the infected animals that most cases of rabies are transmitted.

The doctor also pointed out that if an animal has rabies and an owner attempts to inspect the mouth and throat area it is likely the animal will bite the hand resulting in the transmission of the disease.

While symptoms in different kinds of animals will vary, Dr. Bennett comments that people should look for actions which are not normal for their animal. "A loss of appetite and responsiveness, nervousness and the loud and unusual baying or barking should be signs to stay clear of the animal," the doctor stated.

"In the case of wild animals, they tend to lose their fear of humans and can be found in situations and locations where they would not normally be. For example, a fox seen close to human habitation during the day is certainly unusual behaviour for that animal. In any event, if a wild animal appears or acts in a tame manner, it is best to stay well clear of it."

If a person believes that a pet, livestock or wild animal shows signs of rabies, an effort should be made to isolate the animal if at all possible.

An individual who has been in contact with an animal believed to be rabid should immediately cleanse the area of contact, particularly if a wound is present. Any cut or bite should be thoroughly cleaned with running water and a disinfectant.

Once that is done a medical doctor should be contacted immediately so that treatment, if necessary, can be prepared. In addition a veterinarian, police officer, municipal by-law enforcement officer or office of the area health unit should be notified as soon as possible.

If the animal suspected of being a carrier can be located, tests will be carried out to determine if it is rabid. If it is found to be diseased, treatments will begin immediately on those who have come in contact with the infected animal. In some cases where a positive identification of rabies cannot be made, perhaps because the animal has escaped, it is likely the medical officials will begin the treatments as a precautionary measure.

Medical authorities have pointed out on numerous occasions that waiting for the symptoms of the disease to show in human beings is "waiting too long". Once a person shows signs of rabies, the treatment can be of little or no value.

The treatment involves 14 daily injections administered to a fleshy part of the body, usually the stomach. This series of shots is followed by two follow-up booster shots ten and twenty days following the 14 shots.

The effect of these shots on those receiving them has been exaggerated, according to the Ontario Ministry of Health. They note that close to 60 percent of the people who have received these vaccinations have done so without side effects. Ministry officials have noted that in one case out of three people may have some soreness itching and inflammation at the injection location and only one person in 20 will experience severe discomfort. It may not be a pleasant series of shots to undergo, but the consequences of not taking the treatment is death.

Prevention

There are steps people can take to reduce their chances of coming in contact with the disease.

All pets and livestock should be vaccinated against the disease and the yearly boosters should be administered.

Children should be warned about the dangers of approaching stray animals and in particular usually wild animals acting in a tame manner. The carcasses of dead animals found in the bush or elsewhere should not be touched unless absolutely necessary, and then precautions should be taken to avoid direct contact with the dead animal.

While the rabies virus usually does require a living warm bodied host to survive, it has been recorded that virus can live for some time in saliva drops from an infected animal or, during the winter, in a frozen carcass.

Keeping pets under control at all times will also help reduce their chances of contact with rabid animals. This includes tying dogs and not allowing cats to roam at night when they are more likely to contact a rabid animal.

Reporting unusual signs in pets and livestock to your veterinarian is also a prudent action.

During 1978 there were 71 cases of rabies reported to the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge Health Unit. While this figure does not lead the list of areas in Ontario reporting incidents of rabid animals, it is enough for the local health units officials to be concerned. Earlier this year five residents in the Kinmount area had to undergo rabies treatments after they came in contact with an infected animal.

"It is a serious problem and one that everyone in the area should be aware of," Dr. Bennett commented.

by Ron Reid of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists

If you have a dog, you probably make sure that he receives his rabies vaccination, to protect your pet from this contagious disease. Could the same vaccine be applied to the wild animals, such as foxes and skunks, that transmit rabies? In a major study financed through the Ministry of Natural Resources, scientists are hoping to develop an oral vaccine that could be used to protect these vulnerable species of wildlife.

Rabies is a major problem in Ontario, with an average of 1500 cases per year reported in animals, and about 800 to 1000 people vaccinated each year because of exposure. While there hasn't been a human death due to rabies since 1967, the Ontario government still spends $7 million each year in rabies control measures such as vaccinating pets and livestock, diagnosing suspected cases, and compensating farmers for lost animals.

Such was not always the case. The present strain of rabies, transmitted by wild animals, was unknown in Ontario until the 1950's. Perhaps due to a high population of northern foxes in that decade, the disease was able to spread across northern Ontario from its Arctic origins, where it had been known for centuries.

If the present three-year research program is successful, wild foxes and skunks would be made immune by eating meatballs containing vaccine. Thousands of the meatballs would be spread through likely habitat by being dropped from planes or spread by landowners, a process that is being tested this summer in Huron County to see how well these baits are accepted.

In the meantime, rabies can usually be avoided by using common sense. If a wild animal is acting unusual or seems to have no fear of you, keep your distance. Be careful of young animals apparently abandoned or wildlife or dogs injured on roadsides, since rabies may have caused their carelessness. If you are bitten, make sure you contact your doctor, and keep the animal's carcass for testing if possible. But for the sake of both our pocketbooks and our wildlife, let's hope that effective rabies control is close at hand.

Gooderham man dies following collision

A 23 year old Gooderham man has died following a collision between his motorcycle and another vehicle.

Bert Alexander Madill was pronounced dead by Coroner Dr. Blair Pierce.

James A. MacDonald, 46, of Barrie sustained minimal injury in the accident that occurred on July 4 at 8:00 p.m.

MacDonald was driving his 1979 car east on Highway 503 west of Tory Hill, when Madill's motorcycle entered the highway, from an unassumed side road, directly in front of MacDonald's car.

Two thousand dollars damage was assessed to the car while damage to the 1978 motorcycle was $1500.

There will be no inquest. Corporal Darcy Stevens and Constable Mike Smith were the investigating officers.

Runaway trailer

Six thousand dollars damage was done to a trailer carrying logs when it broke loose from the truck pulling it.

Roland Junop, 44, of Golden Lake was driving a 1977 stake truck south on County road 7 when the trailer hitch broke and the trailer rolled onto its side.

Damage to the cab was $200. The accident occurred on July 1 at 11 a.m.

Investigation was by Constable Mike Smith.

Serious injuries

A 39 year old Montreal woman was taken to Minden Hospital with a major injury after her car collided with another on the Canada Day holiday.

John D. Morrow, 22, of Burlington, the driver of the second car, sustained minor injuries.

Dale Leary was driving her 1980 car east and Morrow was driving his 1973 car west. Morrow lost control and collided with Leary on the shoulder of County Road 1.

Morrow has been charged with careless driving.

There was $8500 damage done to Leary's car and $6000 assessed to Morrow's vehicle.

The accident occurred at 3:15 p.m. on July 1.

Constable Brian Dunham was the investigating officer.

Out of control

A 22 year old Haliburton man sustained a minor injury and was taken to Haliburton Hospital after his car went out of control and went into a ditch.

Valery Chafe was driving east on Highway 530 in Guilford Township in a 1973 car when he lost control of the car. Brian Fallick, 33, of Toronto was driving behind Chafe and his 1977 was hit by gravel thrown by Chafe's vehicle. Two hundred and fifty dollars damage was done to the windshield and front end.

Chafe's car sustained $2500 damage. He has been charged with careless driving.

The accident occurred on June 30 at 9:14 a.m.

Investigation was by Constable Boyd Jarvis.

$7,000 damage

A collision on a hill caused $7000 to an Aurora man's van and $900 to a Hamilton man's car.

Paul Talbot, 21, was driving west on County Road 8 in the Dorset area. At the same time Gerald Irvine, 23, of Aurora was driving his 1976 van east.

The two vehicles sideswiped on a hill.

Irvine's car rolled over on the shoulder after impact with the other car.

Irvine is charged for not having an operator's licence and for driving too far to the left of the centre of the road.

The most important thing to remember when you're working with electricity is simply this: always keep a little common sense between you and your electricity.

Common sense means waiting until your lawn is dry before cutting it with an electric mower.

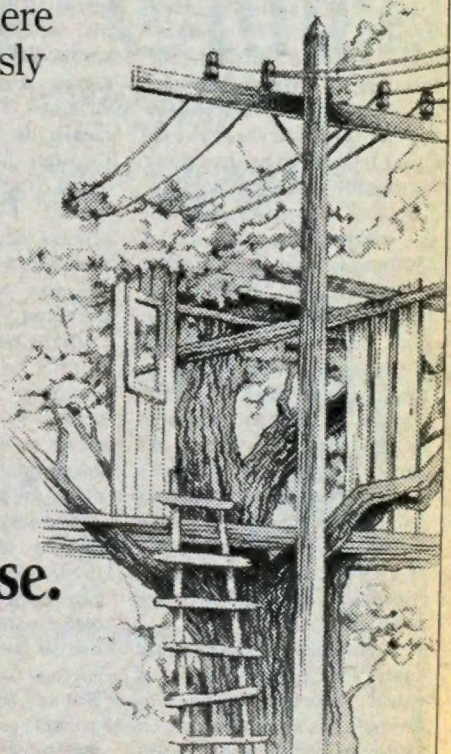

And never building a tree house close to power lines, where children could be seriously injured.

There are many other ways to practise electrical safety. And they all have one very important thing in common.

Common sense.

Bridge opening recalls logging days

Mrs. Winnifred Bedlington, 97 year old pioneer of Haliburton County, officiated at the opening of the Rackety Creek bridge Sunday morning. The opening of the bridge drew a large crowd of spectators including members of the Lutterworth Township council and a number of area cottagers.

The honour of cutting the ribbon and declaring the new bridge open was awarded to Mrs. Bedlington because of her long association with the area. Her family owned property in the area and were involved in the harvesting of timber from Little and Big Bob Lakes and Gull Lake.

The history of the area, the bridge and waterfall in particular were related during the opening ceremonies. Mrs. Bedlington's son-in-law, Major Glyn Lewis, who is also Deputy Reeve of the township, recounted the background of the area.

Lewis noted that when the initial settlers discovered the waterfall it was medium sized and noisy, hence the name "Rackety". The road which crossed the creek at that point, and which served the needs of the loggers, was known as the Rackety Trail when it was first cut through the bush. That name is still used to designate the concession.

Lumbering in the area hit its peak in the 1870's. At that time a log chute extended from the lip of the falls to near the mouth of the creek on Gull Lake. At that time the water rights belonged to the logging companies.

At the mouth of the Rackety Creek a sawmill was constructed and remnants of its foundation can still be seen there. The mill was powered by the falling water which was fed to the mill by a sluice.

A dock had been built at the mouth of the creek and barges and a small steam boat would land there bringing supplies upstream from further down the Gull. In a nearby clearing there was a blacksmith shop, a small store selling food and supplies and a boarding house which offered lodging to the lumber company staff and transient labourers.

The complex was destroyed by arson in the late 1870's and was never revived.

The bridge which was declared open Sunday is the fourth to stand at that location. The first was a rough log structure, which while lacking in esthetics, met the needs of the loggers. When the government took over the water rights, government engineers reconstructed the bridge. That structure had since been replaced by a bridge built by the township and the new structure replaces that one.

Following the official opening of the bridge, those in attendance enjoyed coffee and refreshments at the side of the rushing waters of the Rackety Creek.

Final decision expected from township council

At last night's (Tuesday) meeting of Glamorgan council, a decision on the next move in the hiring of a road superintendent was to be discussed and hopefully agreed upon. (That decision, if indeed one was reached, came following the press deadline for The Times).

Although Ken Maguire, deputy reeve, said Tuesday he thought there would be a decision in the matter, he would not comment on what that decision might be.

At a meeting on July 2, the council discussed the situation in closed session and no reports were made on what transpired.

Following the hiring of a road superintendent, Edward Bryan, of Keene, Ont., council reversed its decision after pressure from ratepayers who had drawn up a petition calling for the hiring of a local resident.

Meanwhile, two councillors, Maguire and Glenn Graham gave notice of their resignation. However, Graham has since reconsidered and Elva Bates, clerk-treasurer, said that a letter withdrawing the resignation has been received by the council office.

Maguire's resignation still stands although council has yet to accept it. However, Maguire said that his decision to resign had nothing to do with the controversy over the road superintendency.

On the June 23 meeting of council, a letter was read from Bryan's lawyers that demanded Bryan be reimbursed for the purchase of a car and repairs made to it, that he receive an amount of $1424.80, the difference between the salary Bryan is now receiving and what he would have received as superintendent over a six month period, and that Bryan be paid $50 for legal fees. A motion to agree to the letter's requests was passed.

Joe Fecht, councillor, said that one of the conditions of employment was that the person must have his own car. Bryan purchased one and had to make certain repairs to make it roadworthy, said Fecht, council had an obligation to pay Bryan for his trouble.

Mike Collins, a spokesman for the Glamorgan ratepayers said that he questioned the decision of the council on the hiring of a non-local resident for the position.

He said he thought that council put more weight behind their decision because Bryan had more formal education but said that what matters most is the person's ability in road building.

He also said that the job required bookkeeping knowledge and managerial skills. One of the local applicants, Vince Billings was experienced in bookkeeping and Bryan was not as qualified, he pointed out.

Collins was also skeptical about the fact that the job was advertised in a Toronto paper and the Peterborough paper. He said that the local residents should have been given more of a chance.

Maguire, at the July 2 meeting, said that, "We shouldn't have advertised."

In an earlier Times report, it was stated that the previous road superintendent, Jim Manley, had been paid a salary of $12,500. In fact, Manley was paid $14,500. The new road superintendent was to have received $17,000 and not $17,500 as the earlier Times report said.

Farm News & Views

Hay from Lindsay area farmers is now on its way to Manitoba to help farmers there who have lost their crops due to drought this spring. The first shipment of hay left Lindsay on Monday, July 7.

Many farmers in this area have extra hay this year. There was an excellent hay crop in 1979, and most farmers have some carryover from last year. And this year's hay crop in this area is very good.

Farmers in Manitoba are reportedly looking for close to 200,000 tons of hay to carry their cattle and other livestock over this winter. Much of this needed hay may be available from Ontario.

The Lindsay Agricultural Office is compiling a list of Victoria County farmers who have hay for sale. This information will be provided to buyers from Manitoba when they are in the area. Any county farmers wishing to be added to this list should contact the office.

The Ontario hay is being moved to Manitoba mainly by rail. The cost of this transportation is being subsidized by the Manitoba government and the railways. The Ontario seller is responsible for getting the hay loaded onto a boxcar for shipment.

The price being paid for this hay varies, as it should, depending on the quality of the hay. There have been rumours of very high prices being paid, but they appear to be rumours only. We understand the maximum price being paid for good quality hay, loaded for shipment, is $60.00 per ton.

This is about the same price as farmers in the area have been receiving in recent months.

Armyworms

Late last July, many farmers in Victoria and Haliburton Counties suffered from a major infestation of armyworms. A number of people are wondering what may happen this year.

As a general rule, armyworms do not occur in large numbers two years in a row. We hope that rule will hold this year.

However, to be on the safe side, farmers in the area should start checking their grain and hay fields, and any grassy corn fields for armyworms. Look at the leaves to see if insects are eating them. Check your fields every few days.

The larvae will still be quite small and hard to see, but if a number are present, you should notice feeding damage on the leaves.

The average temperature in June was 3.4 degrees lower than June 1979. The rainfall was about the same.

Basic canoeing at Frost Centre

With summer in full swing, boating activities of all kinds will no doubt increase in this area. One of the most popular activities is canoeing.

Before venturing out this season, a quick lesson in canoe safety would be beneficial.

The Leslie Frost Centre, near Dorset, is providing a short introductory course this summer on the subject of canoeing. The course is taught by Phil Pavey, the assistant forestry supervisor for the Centre.

He said that the course was started primarily for people who wanted to know how to canoe properly and to have some fun with the sport.

During the one and a half hour training session, Pavey discusses different types of canoes, such as fibreglass, canvas and aluminum and their advantages, parts of a canoe and their uses, lifesaving equipment and safety rules, the importance of choosing the right paddle and a demonstration of the five main strokes used when paddling a canoe.

He said that stability and manoeuvrability are two fundamental characteristics of a good canoe. That is why it is preferable to have one with a keel. Pavey said it adds balance when the canoe is in the water. Without a keel, a canoe lacks this balance and is difficult to control even in the slightest breeze. The canoeist then has a harder time getting back on course, if the wind should increase.

Pavey demonstrated several simple methods that can be used to pick up and carry a canoe. Many people have their own ways, that are often more awkward and difficult, said Pavey. These methods can be used by two people or if one person has decided to travel alone.

One of the ways to carry the vessel involves two people, each standing at opposite ends of the boat. They must also be standing on opposite sides of the canoe so that when they pick it up, the weight will be evenly distributed.

There are five main strokes used in canoeing. Pavey described and demonstrated each one. There is the usual paddling stroke, called the bow stroke. If one wants to move the canoe away from rocks or land, the reverse bow stroke is used. Then, there are the bow sweep and reverse sweep. These are used to turn the canoe around quickly or to get the canoe heading in a straight line if it is off course. The J-stroke is the steering stroke and is one of the more difficult to learn but once practiced is easily executed.

When it comes to lifesaving equipment, there are two main devices. The standard life preserver and a PFD or personal flotation device. Pavey explained that there is a difference between the two.

A PFD is lighter than a life-jacket and as the name suggests helps a person float. A life-jacket, said Pavey is designed to save your life. When a person is in the water, the natural tendency is to fall forward into the water, face down. A life-jacket will prop you up so that the body tilts backwards, the head towards the sky. A PFD does not do this. However, a PFD can be used by an experienced swimmer while a life jacket might be more useful for a non-swimmer or a beginner. Pavey said that it is the individual's choice that he or she will wear. Hopefully, he said they will choose to take something rather than nothing at all.

As far as safety goes, Pavey warned, "If in doubt, don't do it." Not going out in stormy weather, for example, should be common sense. Others include not going out alone unless you're experienced and know exactly what to do in an emergency. Remain with your canoe if it overturns unless the water is very cold in which case get to shore as quickly as possible.

The course is held every Wednesday morning during July and August. In the afternoon, interested people can go on an interpretive tour of Lake St. Nora with one of the Centre guides. You travel by canoe to practice what you have learned in the morning while enjoying the scenery and learning about interesting historical places around the lake.

If you wish more information, contact the Leslie Frost Centre at 766-2451. Ask for the Visitor's Centre.

On June 30 the storage in Haliburton reservoirs was at 99.2%, only a slight decline from June 23. Haliburton precipitation of 108.3 mm was 26% higher than normal with 34.4 mm falling between June 25 and June 30.

Reservoir river flows were increased last week, but have declined gradually as the surplus is being reduced. We are aiming for a level about 95% of maximum before slowing the outflows appreciably.

The Kawartha Lakes are now only a little overfilled and the Otonabee River flow is being reduced again to hold at normal summer levels for the first time this summer.

$70,000 target set for new curling club

The drive to raise $70,000 locally for the new Minden Curling Club and Recreation Building is now underway. The campaign started officially last week as members of the club's building committee poured over the submissions from a number of contractors.

Chairman of the fund raising is Al Mayo, manager of the Toronto Dominion Bank. In kicking off the campaign he pointed out that the total cost of the building is expected to be around $320,000 with a large share of that funding coming from a contribution by Wintario.

Members of the building committee, Jim Garbutt and Godfrey Saunders, are expected to appear before Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council today with the final recommendation for the construction of the building. Six tenders were opened at the last meeting of the council.

A preliminary design prepared by the building committee, is reproduced to the right. While the final building may not resemble the layout presented here, most of the features indicated on the drawing will be incorporated into the new building.

According to the fund raising chairman, donations to the project can be used for income tax purposes. Cheques should be made payable to the Minden Curling and Recreation Building Fund, in care of the Toronto Dominion Bank, Minden.

Home grant for Minden

Grants totalling $571,445 under the Ontario Home Renewal Program (OHRP), have been allocated to 15 municipalities including Minden, Housing Minister Claude Bennett announced recently.

OHRP provides per capita grants to Ontario municipalities to administer directly as loans to homeowner occupants to repair their houses to an acceptable municipal standard.

The grants announced today represent various portions of the total 1980-81 funding designated under OHRP for each municipality.

The prime objective of the program is the correction of faulty structural and sanitary conditions and the upgrading of plumbing, heating, insulation, and electrical systems of the owner occupant's home.

OHRP funding is provided to assist homeowners with a current maximum annual income of $12,500. Bennett recently announced a proposal to raise the income ceiling to $15,500.

Loans of up to $7,500 can be given to eligible owner occupants to bring their homes up to the standards adopted by the municipality. A portion of the loan can be "forgiven" depending upon the income of the recipient. Interest rates vary from zero to eight per cent, again depending on income.

OHRP extends home renewal possibilities to owner occupants in any municipality in Ontario, urban or rural, which has adopted either a minimum housing standards by-law or a resolution setting such standards.

Special arrangements have been made to extend the benefits of the program to the residents of unorganized municipalities in northern Ontario.

The amount of the grant being received by Anson, Hindon and Minden Township is $35,000. Any resident wishing more information on how he can take advantage of the program should contact the municipal office.

Province pushes poison prevention

A program aimed at reducing the number of accidental child poisonings in Ontario will be expanded across the province. Started as a pilot project last year in Peterborough, the poison-prevention program is designed to increase awareness in parents of pre-school children of the risks of accidental poisonings in the home.

Announcing the expansion, Health Minister Dennis Timbrell said that every year an estimated 125,000 children under the age of five suffer from the effects of accidental poisonings. "The problem is one that could be reduced immeasurably if parents were made aware of common household poisons and necessary precautions were taken," Timbrell said. "This poison-prevention program will complement the two poison-control centres already financed by the Ministry of Health.

The two centres—at the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto and the Children's Hospital of Eastern Ontario in Ottawa—are recognized, along with a United States hospital, as the most modern poison control centres in the world. The two are accessible from any point in the province through a toll-free telephone number, also financed by the ministry.

Mr. Timbrell said that as well as providing treatment services on a 24 hour basis, the centres are major reference sources to all Ontario hospitals on toxic substances and antidotes. He said that they also provide, for the first time, an accurate picture and monthly records of poisoning accidents in Ontario.

The Peterborough project, consisting of information kits for parents and a radio and newspaper promotion drive, was tested last year. Among the material extended to parents of pre-school children was identification of common poisons found in the home and tips on how to keep them out of the reach of toddlers.

Results showed that 77 percent of the parents who participated became more conscious of poison-prevention, became better able to identify possible poisons in the home and are

Time is money

If time really is money, then a seminar planned by the Federal Business Development Bank in association with the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce should be of interest to local merchants.

Entitled simply, Time Management, the afternoon seminar will provide ideas on how to manage time in a small business for the maximum benefit. The seminar is part of a series of management programs prepared by FBDB and presented throughout the year.

Anyone interested in taking part in the program is advised to contact Kathy McNeil at 705-748-3241 for pre-registration.

The seminar will be held July 17 at PineStone Inn, beginning at 1 p.m. A large number of participants are expected so those interested are advised to register early.

now exercising necessary precautions.

In the expansion program, the information kits which contain a manual on how to poison-proof the home and a chart setting out household poisons, will be distributed across the provinces through local health units. The kits also contain telephone stickers for emergency numbers and an explanation of steps to take if an accidental poisoning does occur.

Mr. Timbrell said $265,500 has been allotted to the expansion for kits and promotion through radio, television and newspapers.

SENIOR LEAGUE

by Linda English

We started the week with fun and fitness on Monday morning. We were pleased to have Jeanne Sweatman and Jean Hobb with us. These two ladies will be volunteering their time every Monday morning for the summer months. Later in the afternoon, the ladies went to the Craft room to work on their projects. Don't forget our Summer Bazaar on July 18 at 2:00 p.m.

Tuesday morning Reverend Denny of St.

George's Anglican Church in Haliburton held the service in the Chapel. Reverend Denny presented the residents of Hyland Crest with a tape deck on behalf of the late Emily Smith. It was her request that the tape deck be donated to the home, so that the bed patients could enjoy some inspirational music. Mrs. Maud Miller, who is confined to bed, is enjoying the hymns very much.

In the afternoon, several residents went to the auditorium to watch the movies. "To the Top" told us how the famous C.N. tower in Toronto was constructed. It is the world's tallest free standing structure and is a great tourist attraction.

"Of Time, Tombs and Treasure" was filmed in Egypt along the river Nile. We saw beautiful monuments and gods made of solid gold. The archeologist in the film took us on a journey through the tomb of a Pharaoh King. This was an extraordinary film about one of the greatest eras in which people lived.

Wednesday was a special day for Lillian Miller, when she celebrated her birthday. Lillian was presented with a lovely chocolate cake by the kitchen staff, and we all joined together to sing Happy Birthday to her.

The ladies of the Minden UCW brought a lovely variety of cheese and bran muffins for the tea party on Thursday afternoon. The food was delicious and it was very nice to visit with our local ladies.

After the tea party we had our monthly Resident's Council Meeting. One of the things decided upon was that we should replace our bird, which passed away 6 months ago.

Many thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Bennett of the Minden Small Animal Clinic for donating a pair of beautiful finches to our residents. We have named them Peter and Polly. Everyone is enjoying them very much. We were also informed by Doris Robertson that Mr. and Mrs. Parker of Lutterworth Pines will be coming to Hyland Crest to take residents for walks or shopping trips on Tuesday and Friday evenings. Many residents are looking forward to the outings.

Mr. Robinson has asked me to present the following in appreciation to the staff at Hyland Crest.

"At a meeting of Hyland Crest Residents Council, July 3, it was suggested that the staff of the nursing, kitchen, housekeeping, laundry, maintenance, Activities and Office departments be made aware of our appreciation for their cheerful, courteous, and prompt response to our many needs. Very often we get out of "the wrong side of the bed", tend to be grouchy and indecisive, but are always attended to with great gentleness and a smile. So a hearty "Thank You" from Hyland Crest's Senior women and men."

I would like to take this opportunity to welcome Mr. Gordon Ruppel to our home. We certainly hope he will enjoy his stay at Hyland Crest.

Lake returns

After an absence of four years Elephant Lake, located just north of Harcourt Ontario, has a name in Ontario's 1980 official road map. The name of the lake was inadvertently left off the map when the change was made from Imperial to Metric units in 1976.

The oversight was brought to the Ministry of Transportation and Communications by Aldo Campagnola, manager of COTA. Campagnola requested that the lake be named again through the Ministry of Industry and Tourism after attempts by tourist operators on the lake had failed.

Also on the 1980-81 map and initiated by COTA is a warning for those who would travel Highway 507 south of Gooderham that the road is very narrow and winding.

Few people are fully aware of the demands that are sometimes made on volunteer fire fighters in a community such as Stanhope Township.

For those who think it is simply a matter of dashing off to the scene of the fire to bring it under control, it can be said that it is not always that easy. Besides the occasions when incomplete directions prove to be a handicap, there are times when a road's conditions are such that the firemen have to carry pumps, hose or other equipment of a heavy nature for a considerable distance.

Such was the case on Sunday June 29, when a brush fire broke out on top of a hill at Crab Rapids (or Indian Portage) at the upper end of Hawk Lake. About twenty of the volunteers responded to the alarm and while some of the men were left with the equipment at the landing the others loaded pumps, hoses, rakes and shovels into boats generously loaned by residents in the area and crossed the lake to the site of the blaze.

Having gotten ashore it was then necessary to climb a high hill again lugging the equipment with them, some of the men carrying pumps strapped to their back and the pumps were filled with five gallons of water for fine spraying the area.

It will be agreed that this is not too light a task, but the fire was brought under control and the return to the shore to board the boats was begun. At this point the heavy storm struck and because of the heavy rain and very rough condition of the lake, it was decided to wait out the storm sitting out in the shore.

Eventually the trip was resumed and the return was made to the firehall. The firemen were extremely appreciative for the help given them by the residents in the area who made the boats available for the crossing, and to those who joined in the work of controlling the blaze.

While all of this was going on, a stand by crew remained at the firehall where another call was received from someone in the Maple Lake area reporting a fire.

On responding to this call the men found nothing of any consequence, but had such been the case, they were in radio contact with the main group at Hawk Lake and fire-fighters could have been deployed as needed.

One has to say "Well done - again" to those truly community minded men who comprise the Stanhope Volunteer Fire Department, a volunteer department that was reborn to meet an emergency, by the men who came forward at a time of township emergency and enabled the department to continue to do a good job when the need arises.

The firemen are very gratified with the support the public has given to the two dances held recently. We are told that the proceeds from these affairs have helped the firemen to rebuild the association fund which is intended to enable the members to acquire those items which they consider helpful to their organisation and the community.

Most ratepayers will have received their tax bills and noted the increase for this year. It was Council's intention to present a realistic budget and not resort to deficit budgeting, and this they have done. In an election year it is pleasing that council avoided the temptation to produce a lower tax rate by foisting off a deficit on an incoming council, a stunt often resorted to in public financing, but one which hides the true facts.

Speaking of an election year, we are only four months away from the November municipal elections. Having watched the performance of the present council with some regularity, and also attended many County Council meetings, it is our opinion, for what it is worth, the present Council has functioned well, that Reeve Jim Harrison and also Deputy Reeve Elgin Stouffer have given the affairs of the Township serious and conscientious attention.

We do not know at the moment what their intentions are with regard to offering themselves again for election, should they decide to run again we suggest that the township would be well served by giving them an acclamation.

Admittedly it is always possible to find fault with anyone, or to find something to criticize - particularly if fault finding is the only motive. The present council has dealt with some very difficult situations and did so with the best regard for the interests of the Township of Stanhope. In any event it is to be hoped that any candidates for election to any position on Council will be motivated only by considerations that are in the best interest of Stanhope.

It is certain that few will welcome an election that is based on past issues whose resurrection can only assure animosity and unproductive recrimination. The electors of Stanhope are entitled to the type of election campaign which has issues that are meant to be in the best interest of all of the Township. Only the ensuing months will tell if good sense and judgement are to prevail to help heal the wounds of the past.

The committee charged with the preparation of Stanhope Fun Days have come up with a two day program which should provide entertainment and activity for all. Each week from now on more details will appear in the papers so watch for them, and if you feel that you can help the committee in any way Mrs. Ann Barker, Chairman of the Committee, will be pleased to hear from you.

Officer assaulted

A charge of assaulting a police officer has been laid against an Oakville man following an incident July 1.

Brian Kenneth Williams 20, of Oakville was charged and was scheduled to appear in court yesterday (Tuesday) in Lindsay.

The man was arrested by Minden Constable Mike Maher after he was observed sitting at the side of the road near Dorset, drinking beer. Williams had been under observation by police with regard to the theft of a boat, motor and trailer from the Hamilton-Oakville area.

Following his arrest, Williams assaulted the constable in the police cruiser. During the incident a beer bottle was broken and an artery in Williams' left hand was severed.

The accused was taken to Minden hospital for treatment of the wound, while at the medical facility, Williams assaulted the officer again.

Following up on the initial investigation regarding the missing boat and trailer, police recovered the stolen property from the bush in the Saskatchewan Lake area.

Police in the Halton Region have charged Williams and three other individuals with theft over $200. Charged are Gregory Scott Rutherford, 17, Robert Paul Pouget, 18, and Henry Martin Van Der Beek, 17, all of Oakville. The accused will appear in Oakville court July 15 to answer the charge.

In addition to Constable Maher, Constables Al Bibby and Al Barnes were involved with the investigation in Haliburton County.

A Penny's Worth

The Stanhope Recreation Committee is sponsoring a swim programme in July and August at their new beach on Hall's Lake (Old Mill Road). They have a fine staff lined up and are offering a wide range of programmes. Further information can be had at the beach Monday to Friday from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. or by calling 489-2828. Your support would be appreciated by the staff and recreation committee.

Les Clark has been released from hospital in Peterborough and is recuperating at home.

Congratulations to the newly-weds, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Hanley (nee Cindy Chambers) who were married on June 28th in Fort McMurray, Alberta. Cindy's parents, Alice and Bill Chambers, as well as Frank and Marie Chambers and Phrona Sisson flew out to attend the wedding.

Grace Cowen has been released from hospital after her fall, and is recuperating at the home of her daughter, Lois Davies, in Minden.

Don't forget, the Stanhope Fly-In is scheduled for this Saturday, July 12th. The weather didn't co-operate on the original date so it was rescheduled for July 12th with a rain date of Sunday, July 13th.

I would like to welcome some permanent residents to Metropolitan Carnarvon - Bob Wiltshire, recently retired, and his wife Joyce have moved up to their residence on Boshkung Lake.

Minden Minor Hockey are holding a rummage sale the first week-end in August - so if you have any rummage or books - please save it as they will be glad to collect it.

Seems some people are dropping their garbage bags at a local spring. This certainly creates an eyesore for others who depend on the spring for drinking water. What does it take to encourage people to use the garbage dumps which are provided in each township.

Many people think the new building just past the Dentist's office is the new Library Culture Centre - this is not so. This is "The Glass Place" and is another business which is much needed in our community.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Robinson spent one day last week visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cockburn of Woodville and also Mr. and Mrs. Glen Cockburn and baby Michelle who were also there from Edmonton.

Congratulations go to the newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bunker (formerly Shirley Daniel) who married recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Kellett, Kevin Troy and Tosha of Atlanta Georgia left Monday after a three week visit with relatives and friends here and also attending the Kellett Re-Union June 21 and Cox Re-Union July 6.

All their friends send good wishes to these people who were in hospital, May Wright and Nell Anderson.

Mary had a little waist, Everyone admired it! But after years of pies and cakes

You simply cannot find it!

Perhaps people who go on Women's Institute Bus Tours would like to suggest a place for the Fall Trip. Call Isabel Harrison, Maud Coulter or yours truly with your ideas as soon as possible.

Carol Puffer of Clear Lake celebrated her birthday Saturday July 5 with a barbeque at her cottage. Visiting from Toronto were Thomas and Gerald Puffer, Sheila Petersen, and Gary S. Greenway. Also in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Michael Collins and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bullen of Clear Lake.

Laura and Carol Bliers of Orangeville visited last week with their grandparents Aileen and Stan Bliers.

Sincere sympathy goes to the family and friends of the late W.W. (Lee) Clarke of Eagle Lake who died since last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Stamp, Jeff and Glen Stamp were away at Kapuskasing on the weekend to attend a wedding.

Guests with their grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Harold Coulter were Scott Callow of Huntsville and Earl Johnson of Barry's Bay.

We hear that Bea and Don Berry are away on a holiday in Georgian Bay area.

Guest with his grandparents Mae and Don Wolfram is Hardwin Miller of Tarzana California.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Porter and family were away at Parry Sound over the weekend visiting his sister and her family.

Weekend guest with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Emmerson and Bev were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Emmerson of Amherst Island.

In watching the Cash For Life Draw Saturday night, we noted that the accountant in charge of the draw was a former resident, Robert Herlihey.

Mr. and Mrs. Marks of Thornhill visited last week with Emma and Earl Hewitt.

The Cox Re-Union was held Sunday at South Lake Trailer Park with the meal catered by Dixie Lee. The Don Kellett family came the farthest to this. Senior member was Annie Cox and the youngest person was Darnelle Gilbert. A telegram wishing everyone well was read from Liz and Ivan Cox, California wishing they were here, perhaps next year. A grand time on a grand day with a large crowd enjoying it all.

Explain to me why I should sew

A button every time I go Away from home, because the store Dispenses suits and fads galore

With every button barely tied With flimsy thread, one-strand wide; If by chance, anemic strand Deceases, button falls in hand.

But, oh, they sew the pricing tag So tightly caught, there is no lag. The triple-stitch of heavy braid Requires the use of razor blade!

Anon

In keeping with the above, a drop of clear nail polish in the centre of the button thread will make the poor sewing last a bit longer.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Burnett of Hartford Michigan and Emma and Earl Hewitt spent last Wednesday at St. Joseph's Lake.

We have a draw going on at Minden Library - there is a jar of buttons, and for your quarter you guess the number in there. The closest number will win two Cash For Life tickets with final date Thanksgiving weekend.

A great deal coming on next week. Monday at 8 is the Library Culture Centre meeting at the Municipal Office upstairs, Wednesday from 5 - 7 is the Annual United Church Bazaar Dinner, and on Thursday morning at 10 at the Fire Hall is the Free Puppet Show, then on 19th is the Anglican Bazaar Tea; watch for posters so you will have the correct time on the last.

A grand weekend, large crowds, so take care. Cheerio until next time.

Lines from Lutterworth

by Jean Lacey

Hi! Well we sure had a lovely weekend. It didn't look too promising at times on Saturday but it changed nicely. We must have lived right this week.

The Official Opening of Rackety Bridge was Sunday, with a goodly crowd of about 50 some people watching the proceedings. Mr. Bill Prentice lent one of his well equipped trailers for the occasion. Serving refreshments was so much easier. Mrs. Bedlington cut the ribbon and declared the Bridge open.

Mr. and Mrs. Selwyn and daughter Lyndsay are here from Ottawa visiting with Mrs. Bedlington and Major and Mrs. Lewis.

Mrs. Lucy Sharpe has Mrs. Sloane visiting with her for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Fox and John and Sue and family from near Montreal for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Ray are up to their cottage for the summer.

Wayne Hughes and his mother are taking an extensive trip around the Orangeville and Guelph area.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Prentice will be going on a trip on their boat through the Trent Canal System.

Mr. and Mrs. Learne and family from Niagara Falls are up to their cottage for a few days.

CHILDREN! Don't forget

we have a few things going at the Lutterworth Library for you this summer: - Monday nights - Films - 7 to 8 p.m. Thursday - 2 to 3 - Story and Crafts. July 17 - 11:30 a.m. Puppet Show. Also we have the Smokey Bear Reading Club. So do come out to see us. You'll have a good time.

Mrs. Lil Porter had her grandsons visiting her. Bill Porter is from Oshawa, the other grandson, Private John Porter is from Cornwallis, Nova Scotia. They travelled around visiting all the relatives and spent some time in Rosedale at the camp. When Private Porter left, for a destination unknown, as yet, he left his medals and pictures for Mrs. Porter to hang up at her place for him. A truly fine grandson to be proud of.

Mr. and Mrs. Neutrell were up to their new cottage for the weekend.

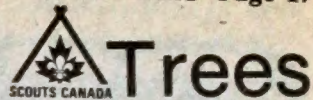

Some of the Ladies of Lutterworth Township have asked me to remind you they are selling tickets for a Concert Series put on by the Guild of Fine Arts of Haliburton starting in the fall.

Hint of the Week

Calming the Angry Child - Whispering works wonders when a child is angry. Simply whisper gentle words into his ear. He will stop crying so he can hear what you're saying. And, 100% effective on husbands.

One of the real joys of our lives is having friends and keeping in touch with them.

Take it easy. Bye for now. God bless till next time.

Each year, early in the Spring, the Minden branch of the Beavers, Cubs and Scouts embark on a fund raising campaign called "Trees for Canada".

The purpose of Trees for Canada is to give the boys a chance to help nature to beautify Canada, to experience fellowship in working together for their betterment, while at the same time raise funds for the Scouting movement.

The boys, ages 6 to 14, plant young trees (red pine) on an individual's property at no cost to the owner, but before this is done, he/she must present their request in writing to the Minden Scout Committee in the Fall of the previous year. At this time soil tests are conducted by the local Ministry of Natural Resources Office to ensure compatibility. In early January the trees are ordered (3,000 approx.) to ensure delivery. As soon as weather conditions permit planting, the site selected is staked and arrangements finalized by members of the Scout Committee and the Ministry of Natural Resources.

While the boys endeavour to do their best, it must be pointed out that a professional planting job (straight rows) may not be achieved. It is trusted this may be overlooked by the land owner, however, it is guaranteed that the trees will be planted GREEN SIDE UP.

On the day of planting, the boys accompanied by their parents and leaders arrive at the site at approximately 9:00 o'clock and are expected to be completed around noon. Perhaps you could provide a lunch and refreshments after the planting is finished as the boys will have earned it.

If you wish further information, contact Larry Card or any member of the Minden Scouting Committee.
